

As for other languages, continues speech recognition in conversation Algerian Arabic seems to have potential for positive future development both in the perspective of users and researchers . we think that the number of users, people with or without disabilities, will have a continuous and stable increase, an example is the future integration of speech recognition in telephone network, in professional workplaces such as hospitals, post offices or in an educational environment, here in Algeria. This is a great step towards an increased worldwide use of the system...